ABOUT US

Did you know that KEP does PVC tubing? As an alternative to natural rubber latex tubing, silicone tubing and more, flexible polyvinyl chloride (PVC) tubing is a versatile, cost-effective choice for a wide range of applications and industries. KEP is a trusted flexible PVC tubing manufacturer for the medical, laboratory, food and beverage industries and more.

TESTIMONIAL

"Kent Elastomer has been an excellent supplier who is willing to go the extra mile to assure customer satisfaction. Brad Huntley (KEP National Sales Manager – West) is particularly attentive to our needs and makes regular contact to inquire about our progress and our satisfaction with their product and service. We are looking forward to many more years of success while teaming with Kent Elastomer. We will definitely utilize Kent Elastomer's expertise in future endeavors."

– Todd C., Q & E Manager, Food Packaging Company
