The People Who Make the Products that Make a Difference

BioTubing

We are excited to announce that Kent Elastomer Products is launching a TPE Biopharmaceutical tubing product dedicated to manufacturing cutting-edge TPE tubing for the biopharmaceutical industry. Our mission is to deliver top-tier biopharmaceutical tubing that exceeds the highest industry standards, catering to the critical demands of the medical, pharmaceutical, research, and diagnostics sectors.

At Kent Elastomer, our team takes immense pride in its meticulous approach to engineering. Through extensive research and development efforts, we have crafted a comprehensive range of TPE biopharmaceutical tubing, ensuring unparalleled quality and performance. With our commitment to precision and excellence, we aim to revolutionize the biopharmaceutical industry, setting new benchmarks for tubing solutions that inspire confidence and reliability in every application.

Beyond Patriotism

We are celebrating our country's freedom all month long, knowing that it didn't come for free. At KEP, we go beyond patriotism by making ALL of our products in the USA. Not many companies can say that, and we've worked hard to maintain our American-soil production.

As you celebrate our country's independence this month, be sure to support made-in-the-USA businesses like KEP – because you will benefit too!

Meet Jesus Martinez

Meet Jesus Martinez, a Material Handler and Translator that has been with KEP for the past 1.5 years! Jesus strips tubing and loads/unloads tubing and mandrel. We also appreciate that he is willing to translate whenever needed!
